Instructions for Contributing

1. It is necessary for you to be a registered Ghub user for you to contribute materials and for you to be listed as the author of the resource(s) you are posting. If you are not yet a member, register here and login. If you are not the author of the material you are posting, make sure that author is also a Ghub member so that they can be properly cited.

2. Contribute your resources individually as 'Educational Materials'. If you contribute multiple related Educational Materials, you can also contribute a 'Course'. Please contact Ghub staff to have your related Educational Materials linked together in your Course.

3. Tags are used in Ghub to help keep resources organized and easily navigable for users. During the contribution process, please choose all applicable tags from the drop-down menus. You can also add in additional tags in the 'Add Tags' box at the bottom of the page as well as editing your tags later. Tagging thoroughly will help Ghub users discover, navigate to, and be aware of the content within your resource more easily. Thank you for contributing to our community!

4. If your resource is an external website, please use HTML formatting as follows to display:

Example Link Text
```
