

Education and Training

Ghub's user-contributed educational resources include a wide range of teaching and learning materials: lesson plans, course lectures, scientific data, visualizations, interactive computer models, and virtual field trips. Resources are submitted by Ghub community members, those in both the scientific and the educational communities. The newest educational items can be found at the RSS feed at the Ghub homepage.

Contribute Your Educational Materials

View All Educational Materials

View Courses

Education Group

Anyone can join this new group for the latest discussion on the current state and future of cryospheric science education, as well as the sharing of ideas for teaching, and more.